PRESIDENT’S WELCOME

Welcome, attendees, exhibitors, and friends to the 2016 ALA Annual Conference and Exhibition. I’m so pleased that you’re joining us from all types of libraries and related organizations throughout the U.S. and more than 40 other countries. I look forward to connecting with you to make the most of this conference and to continue exploring how we can best meet the needs of all our communities and users through the lens of “Libraries Transform.”

More than 2,600 libraries have already joined ALA’s national “Libraries Transform” campaign; we look forward to hearing from those represented here in Orlando and to helping more of you get involved. As we prepare for the library of the future, the transformation-related presentations, workshops, speakers, sessions, and discussions will be especially useful. Developed with the ALA Center for the Future of Libraries, the Library of the Future sessions explore emerging trends and innovations with experts from a variety of fields and professions. Additional future-focused programming is included in the Knight Foundation’s “Knight News Challenge Libraries” series. Look for more information on the Libraries Transform pages, 22–23.

ALA’s three strategic directions (advocacy, information policy, and professional and leadership development) lend structure to important content throughout the conference. Among the more than 500 sessions and programs, I’m delighted to see the increasing number of peer-to-peer and informal learning opportunities that supplement our more formal learning.

Equity, diversity, inclusion, and access are critical to a strong future for libraries. See pages 24–28 for recommendations from the Committee on Diversity, which encourage us to select and actively participate in sessions that can help us address these issues as a profession and in our home institutions and organizations. Don’t forget to visit the new Diversity Pavilion in the exhibits where you’ll find exhibitors with books, products, and services to help you meet the needs of all communities.

A special personal highlight will be introducing actress and immigration reform advocate Diane Guerrero at my President’s Program on Sunday afternoon after the ALA Awards Presentations. America’s libraries have advanced the American Dream by providing services and resources that welcome and support all immigrants, and Guerrero’s personal story is a powerful reminder of the library’s essential role in creating individual opportunity and community progress.

You won’t want to miss any of the featured speakers, starting on a high note with Michael Eric Dyson at the Opening General Session on Friday. The lineup of Auditorium, Division Presidents’ Program, and other speakers covers a fascinating range of experiences and expertise. An added highlight is the special session marking the 50th anniversary of the National Endowment for the Humanities, featuring US Rep. John Lewis (D-Ga) and introduced by NEH Chairman William D. Adams.

The vast number of book- and author-related events is as tempting as ever, including the celebrations of many ALA book and media awards. With more than 900 exhibitors and dozens of events and activities, don’t miss visiting the exhibits to learn about new titles, products, services, and technologies. This is an important part of your conference experience. Dozens of authors will also spend time in the exhibit hall, including on the live stages.

Throughout the conference, I’ll be tracking #alaac16 on Twitter and tweeting @sarifeldman. Please join me and be part of the conversation. This year we are particularly keen on the number 140 since it marks the anniversary of 140 years of ALA. I also encourage you to stay connected with the handy mobile app at alaannual.org/mobile-app. If you haven’t tried it already, do some experimenting with iBeacon (page 41) to get even more out of your conference experience.

Wrapping up the conference at the Inaugural Brunch on Tuesday, it will be my privilege to honor incoming ALA President Julie Todaro, the incoming President-Elect Jim Neal, Executive Board members, and Division Presidents-Elect. I’ve been honored to serve as your President and to learn more about the many ways Libraries Transform. I look forward to continuing our work together and to seeing you at ALA conferences and events.

Sari Feldman
President
Dear Conference Attendees:

As Florida’s Secretary of State, I wish to welcome you to the great state of Florida and to the city of Orlando for the 2016 American Library Association Conference.

There are over 1,500 libraries in Florida, and all of them make vital contributions to the communities they serve. Florida’s libraries enrich and highlight our cultural heritage, bolster the economy, strengthen the workforce and support education. Libraries are at the forefront of new technologies, providing training and support – even makerspaces.

Libraries of all types deserve our support and our celebration. They serve many roles in their communities, and librarians and library staff transform lives every day. It is very appropriate that the theme for this year’s conference is “Transforming Our Libraries, Ourselves.”

I know that your conference experience will be rich and full. My hope is that you will return home with new energy and ideas. Thank you for all you do.

Sincerely,

Ken Detzner
Secretary of State

MICHAEL ERIC DYSON

Friday, June 24 • 4:00 pm – 5:15 pm

Named by Essence magazine as one of the 50 most inspiring African Americans in the U.S., Michael Eric Dyson provides some of the most significant commentary on contemporary social and intellectual thought, interwoven with cultural criticism, race theory, religion, philosophical reflection and gender studies. Taking on tough and controversial issues, Dyson—one of the nation’s most renowned public intellectuals—is the author of 17 books including the American Book Award-winning Come Hell or High Water: Hurricane Katrina and the Color of Disaster, a New York Times op-ed contributor, an MSNBC political analyst, and former host of NPR’s The Michael Eric Dyson Show. His most recent book, The Black Presidency: Barack Obama and the Politics of Race in America, is provoking wide and engaged discussion.

Dyson, a Georgetown University professor, bridges gaps between generations, connecting civil rights identity to hip-hop culture, and forging links between older and younger Americans, especially black Americans. As a cutting-edge historian, he reaches beyond race, addressing the universal commonality of American concern. Other recent topics have included racial profiling and its impact on black America, and Dr. King for the 21st Century. He was recommended by the ALA Task Force on Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion, and will give the conference a thought-provoking start.

ALA/ERT EXHIBITS OPENING RECEPTION

Friday, June 24 • 5:30 pm – 7:00 pm *

Exhibit Halls

The Exhibit Hall opens with a ribbon-cutting ceremony immediately following the Opening General Session that features a brief welcome by ALA and local dignitaries. The Exhibits Opening includes food and drink through the exhibit hall, giving exhibitors and attendees their first chance to network as the exhibits kick off.

Sponsored by ALA, the Exhibits Round Table (ERT) and your ALA Exhibitors.

*Open to Full Conference registrants.
Join ALA President Sari Feldman to celebrate the award winners and her featured speaker Diane Guerrero.

Diane Guerrero

Sunday, June 26 • 3:30 pm – 5:30 pm

“America’s libraries have advanced the American Dream by providing services and resources that welcome and support all immigrants,” says ALA President Sari Feldman, who looks forward to welcoming Guerrero to her President’s Program. “Diane Guerrero’s personal story is a powerful reminder of the library’s essential role in creating individual opportunity and community progress.”

Well known as an actress on the hit shows Orange is the New Black and Jane the Virgin, Guerrero also volunteers with the nonprofit Immigrant Legal Resource Center and in 2015 was named a White House Ambassador for Citizenship and Naturalization. An outspoken advocate for commonsense, comprehensive immigration reform, Guerrero was taken in by other Colombian families in Boston when she was 14 after the rest of her family was deported without warning to Colombia. She has worked with Immigrant Legal Resource Center and Mi Familia Vota, a nonpartisan Latino civic engagement organization, to promote citizenship and voter registration.

Guerrero, who has a degree in political science and communication as well as studying vocal music, has appeared on numerous TV series and in feature films. In 2015, Variety named her one of the top 10 Latina actresses to watch, and she received a Screen Actors Guild award for her role as Maritza Ramos on the award-winning Netflix series, Orange is the New Black. Her memoir, In the Country We Love: My Family Divided, was recently published by Henry Holt & Co.

Sponsored by Henry Holt & Co./Macmillan

Signing will take place outside Theater immediately following the event.

CLOSING GENERAL SESSION

JAMIE LEE CURTIS

Tuesday, June 28 • 10:00 am – 11:30 am

The Closing General Session is a not-to-miss event, where current ALA President Sari Feldman will pass the gavel to the 2016–2017 ALA President Julie Todaro and introduce the new ALA Division Presidents. Jamie Lee Curtis will close out the conference as its final speaker. The Closing General Session will be immediately followed by the elegant Inaugural Brunch.

Jamie Lee Curtis is an award-winning actress and New York Times bestselling children’s author. A Golden Globe and BAFTA Award winner, Curtis has starred in many films including True Lies, A Fish Called Wanda, Trading Places, and Halloween. Most recently, she returned to her horror roots as a lead in the TV series Scream Queens, for which she received a Golden Globe nomination.

Curtis works with illustrator Laura Cornell on all her children’s books, which address core childhood subjects and life lessons in a playful, accessible way. She was inspired to write the first one, When I Was Little: A Four-Year Old’s Memoir of Her Youth, by her then-four-year-old daughter’s boast that she was no longer “little.” Tell Me Again About the Night I Was Born is a celebration of adoption and the start of a new family, inspired by the adoption of her own two children. Her other titles include the New York Times bestseller Today I Feel Silly, and Other Moods That Make My Day. Curtis and Cornell’s next book, This Is Me: The Story of Who We Are and Where We Came From (Workman, September 2016), brings her whimsical verse to the subject of immigration and identity. In other writing activities, she blogs for The Huffington Post. She is a staunch supporter of children’s hospitals and their advocacy efforts, and is also involved in the work of the Children Affected by AIDS Foundation.

Sponsored by Workman

Signing will take place outside Theater immediately following the event.

MARGARET ATWOOD
Saturday, June 25 • 10:30 am – 11:30 am

Margaret Atwood is the award-winning author of more than 40 books of fiction, poetry, children’s literature, and critical essays, including The Handmaid’s Tale, the Booker Prize-winning The Blind Assassin, The Heart Goes Last, and the MaddAddam trilogy that began with the Man-Booker prize-nominated Oryx and Crake, continued with The Year of the Flood, and ended with MaddAddam. Her forthcoming book, The Tempest, (October 2016) is part of the Hogarth Shakespeare project that sees Shakespeare’s works retold by acclaimed and bestselling novelists of today. Atwood has consistently named William Shakespeare as one of the most important influences on her own work. Her first encounters with him took place in the 1950s at her Toronto high school. “The Tempest is, in some ways, an early multi-media musical,” she says. “If Shakespeare were working today he’d be using every special effect technology now makes available. But The Tempest is especially intriguing because of the many questions it leaves unanswered. What a strenuous pleasure it has been to wrestle with it!”

Atwood’s work has been published in more than 40 languages, including Farsi, Japanese, Turkish, Finnish, Korean, Icelandic, and Estonian, and she has won many international awards. She has served as President of the Writers’ Union of Canada, President of the Canadian Centre (English Speaking) of PEN International, is a current Vice-President of PEN International, and has also worked as a cartoonist, illustrator, librettist, playwright, and puppeteer.

MAYA PENN
Saturday, June 25 • 3:30 pm – 4:30 pm

Remarkable teen entrepreneur and activist Maya Penn’s TEDWomen Talk has been viewed more than 1,200,000 million times (and is one of the top 15 TEDWomen Talks of all time). She has already given three TED Talks, created her own eco-friendly fashion line, developed animated films, is an award-winning philanthropist, a girls’ rights and environmental activist, and an artist, coder, illustrator, and writer. She is the CEO of Maya’s Ideas, a company she started in 2008 when she was just eight years old; 10-20% of the profits go to local and global charities and environmental organizations. Her nonprofit, Maya’s Ideas 4 The Planet, contributes to girls in developing countries. She also helps girls pursue their passions in technology and STEM fields. “At four years old, my dad showed me how to take apart a computer and put it back together again. That started my love for technology,” she says. “I’ve been drawing ever since I could hold a crayon. . . . My mom taught me how to sew.”

Penn, who believes that “Ideas are opportunities and innovation. Ideas truly are what make the world go round,” has been featured in Forbes, Time, NPR, CNN, O Magazine, Essence, The View, The Steve Harvey Show, Huffington Post, The NRDC, Entrepreneur Magazine, Wired, Black Enterprise, Cosmopolitan, Ebony, The Atlanta Journal Constitution, and many other publications. In her forthcoming inspirational handbook, You Got This! Unleash Your Awesomeness, Find Your Path, and Change Your World (April 2016, North Star Way), Penn shares her journey and provides a creative blueprint for teens and young adults, along with the tools she has used to build an authentic, exciting, successful, and connected life.

BRAD MELTZER

Sunday, June 26 • 10:30 am – 11:30 am

Nonfiction, suspense novels for adults, children’s books, comic books, TV shows, and 2016 Honorary Chair of ALA’s Preservation Week—the multi-talented New York Times bestselling author Brad Meltzer does them all and more. A core belief underpins and runs through each of his projects: ordinary people change the world. He was recently added by The Hollywood Reporter to their list of Hollywood’s 25 Most Powerful Authors, and his television work includes hosting the History Channel shows Brad Meltzer’s Decoded and Lost History, and co-creating Jack and Bobby.

Heroes are important to Meltzer, and he has been inspired by wanting his own children to have better heroes to look up to as he encourages them to dream big, one great role model at a time. His collectible picture book biography series Ordinary People Change the World carries the message that we can all be heroes. His newest illustrated children’s books include I Am Amelia Earhart and I Am Abraham Lincoln (to be followed later this year by Lucille Ball and Helen Keller). Meltzer’s comic books include Justice League of America, for which he won the Eisner Award. His suspense novels for adults include the latest political thriller, The President’s Shadow. His newest nonfiction is History Decoded: The 10 Greatest Conspiracies of All Time. Based on his wide-ranging knowledge and research, the Department of Homeland Security recruited Meltzer to brainstorm different ways that terrorists might attack the US. His books have spent over a year on bestseller lists, and have been translated into more than 25 languages, from Hebrew to Bulgarian.

JAZZ JENNINGS
Monday, June 27 • 8:30 am – 9:30 am

Jazz Jennings is one of the youngest and most prominent voices in the national discussion about gender identity. At the age of five and with the support of her parents, Jennings transitioned to life as a girl. A year later, her first Barbara Walters interview aired, at a time when the public was much less knowledgeable or accepting of the transgender community. This groundbreaking interview was followed over the years by other high-profile interviews, a documentary, the launch of her YouTube channel, a picture book, and her own reality TV series—I Am Jazz—making her one of the most recognizable activists for transgender teens, children, and adults. In her memoir, Being Jazz: My Life as a (Transgender) Teen, (June, 2016), Jennings reflects on these very public experiences and how they have helped shape mainstream attitudes toward the transgender community. She has faced challenges, bullying, discrimination, and rejection, yet perseveres as she educates others about her life as a transgender teen and learns to navigate the physical, social, and emotional upheavals of adolescence—particularly high school—complicated by the unique challenges of being transgender. Throughout, her family has supported her.

Jennings, who hosts a series of videos about her life on YouTube, was named to Time’s Most Influential Teens list two years in a row, was one of Huffington Post’s 14 Most Fearless Teens, and was the youngest person ever featured on Out’s Out100, as well as on Advocate’s 40 Under 40 list. In 2014, she was named a Human Rights Campaign Youth Ambassador and received LogoTV’s Youth Trailblazer Award.

AUDITORIUM SPEAKER SERIES

OCCE-Chapin Theater (W320)

HOLLY ROBINSON PEEOTE WITH RJ AND RYAN ELIZABETH PEEOTE

Monday, June 27 • 10:30 am – 11:30 am

Actress, author, talk show host, activist, and philanthropist Holly Robinson Peete has devoted her life and career to autism awareness. Most recently she has co-authored the young adult novel Same But Different: Teen Life on the Autism Express with her 18-year-old twins Ryan Elizabeth and RJ, who join their mother in this Auditorium Speaker program. Through alternating fictional narratives based on their own lives, Ryan Elizabeth and RJ, who has autism, reveal honestly what it means to be a teen living with autism, and the book addresses challenges and triumphs as well as the effects on family, school, friends, and life. Same But Different explores the funny, painful, and unexpected aspects of teen autism while daring to address issues not usually talked about, underscoring tolerance, love, and the understanding that everybody’s unique drumbeat is worth dancing to.

Since 2000, when Peete learned of RJ’s autism diagnosis, she has worked tirelessly to help families everywhere who are raising children with autism. With her husband, former NFL quarterback Rodney Peete, she founded the HollyRod Foundation, dedicated to offering help through compassionate care to families living with autism and Parkinson’s disease. Ryan Elizabeth Peete is a college student and avid world traveler who has devoted herself to advocacy for children with special needs. Rodney Jackson Peete, “RJ,” serves as a mentor at the Los Angeles Speech and Language Therapy Center, where he provides support and help to young people like himself on the autism spectrum. The Peetes have invited viewers into their family life in the docuseries For Peete’s Sake, which premiered on OWN, the Oprah Winfrey Network in March, 2016.

NEH 50TH-ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION / PUBLIC PROGRAMS OFFICE

Congressman John Lewis, Andrew Aydin, & Nate Powell

Saturday, June 25, 9:30 am – 10:30 am

HYATT-Regency Ballroom S

Join Congressman John Lewis—renowned civil rights leader and co-author of the acclaimed graphic novel series March—and his March co-creators for a special appearance celebrating the National Endowment for the Humanities. Often called “one of the most courageous persons the civil rights movement ever produced,” Lewis has dedicated his life to protecting human rights and securing civil liberties. NEH Chairman William Adams will introduce Lewis, Andrew Aydin and Nate Powell’s presentation, which will address the legacy of the civil rights movement, the power of visual literacy to educate and inspire today’s youth, and the crucial role of libraries in our democracy.

A book signing will follow the event.
DIVISION PRESIDENTS’ PROGRAMS

AASL
President’s Program
Saturday, June 25 • 11:30 am – 12:30 pm
OCCC-W205

American Association of School Librarians President Leslie Preddy welcomes award-winning author Avi, who will speak about his work and connection to readers and librarians. Avi, who started his career as a playwright and worked for many years as a librarian at New York Public Library, has published more than 70 books spanning different age levels and genres. He won the 2003 Newbery Medal for Crispin: The Cross of Lead, as well as two Newbery Honors, two Horn Book Awards, and a Scott O’Dell Award.

ACRL
President’s Program—Strategies and Partnerships: Tailoring Data Services for Your Institutional Needs
Saturday, June 25 • 10:30 am – 12:00 pm
OCCC-W109B
Transforming: Services

In nearly every discipline, understanding how to find and use data effectively and how to create and manage your own data for re-use are emerging critical competencies in higher education. Approaching data services at the institutional level requires coordinated communication and collaboration across units and/or externally. The speakers will address multiple approaches for academic libraries of various sizes to tailor their engagement with data services to their institutional priorities.

ALCTS
President’s Program—The Future of the Internet and the ‘Cloud of Things’
Monday, June 27 • 10:30 am – 12:00 pm
OCCC-W304 A-D
Transforming: E-Books & Collections

As new tools and business models emerge over the next decade, cloud technology combined with broadband wireless, sensors, Big Data and machine learning will transform how we interact with information and will fundamentally change the way we interact with the world and each other. Please join us for this intriguing President’s Program, with featured speaker Dr. Michael R. Nelson, that will examine principles (open standards, the free flow of information, transparency and empowering users) which will allow these impending technology changes to benefit people around the globe.

ALSC
Charlemae Rollins President’s Program—Libraries: The Space to Be
Monday, June 27 • 1:00 pm – 2:30 pm
OCCC-W110A
Transforming: Physical & Virtual Space

One of the most transformative services libraries provide children is that of place, whether size and budget allow for a single bulletin board or thousands of futuristic square feet. As places where stories and imagination come to life in an engaging environment, Orlando’s theme parks are unrivaled in the world, and our keynote will be given by Marty Sklar, former president of Walt Disney Imagineering, and the man behind the creative development of EPCOT and design supervisor for Tokyo Disneyland and Disneyland Paris, among many other magical spaces. Following his inspiration we’ll hear from the Center for Childhood Creativity; Skidmore, Owings & Merrill LLP; Richland Library; and Clemson University on how child development, architecture, and stories all work together to create spaces that are vital to children and the communities that support them. The program will also feature an interactive show-and-tell of libraries from across the globe and everyone is invited to share their own spaces of which they’re proud by tweeting pictures using #ALSCprez. This program honors Charlemae Hill Rollins, the first African American president of ALA’s Children’s Services Division (which became ALSC), and is generously supported by Disney Publishing Worldwide.

Don’t Get Sued: What Librarians are Doing to Address the Physical, Programmatic and Web-based Accessibility Barriers for People with Disabilities
Sunday, June 26 • 4:30 pm – 5:30 pm
OCCC-W105B
Transforming: Services

Cultivating universal access and design habits is not only good practice, it’s also legal practice. In this program an expert panel will offer insights into what librarians are doing to address the everyday needs of employees and patrons with disabilities in the library as well as the accessibility of the library’s online presence.
LITA
President’s Program—Toward an Ethic of Social Justice in Information
Sunday, June 26 • 3:00 pm – 4:00 pm
OCCC-W109B
Transforming: Systems & Technology

LITA President Thomas Dowling welcomes Dr. Safiya Noble. The landscape of information is rapidly shifting as new imperatives and demands push to the fore increasing investment in digital technologies, despite the consequences of increased surveillance and lack of privacy, which are changing our information engagements. Increasingly, critical information scholars are demonstrating how digital technology and its narratives are shaped by and infused with values that are not impartial, disembodied, or lacking positionality. Technologies consist of a set of social practices, situated within the dynamics of race, gender, class, and control. In this talk, Safiya Umoja Noble, Assistant Professor in the Department of Information Studies at UCLA, will discuss the importance of the library community to offer models of intervention through research, practice, and teaching. Her research examines the linkages to power struggles over representation on the web and in the digital library, and the consequences of marginalization and misrepresentation in commercial information platforms like Google search, particularly for communities living under increasing surveillance and precarity.

Co-sponsored by ALA’s Office for Diversity, Literacy, and Outreach Services and the Black Caucus of the American Library Association.

LLAMA
President’s Program
Saturday, June 25 • 10:30 am – 12:00 pm
OCCC-W304 G-H
Transforming: Library Leadership Expectations–Staff and Boards

Featuring William Ury, co-author of the best-selling Getting to Yes, numerous other books, and, most recently, Getting to Yes with Yourself: (and Other Worthy Opponents). His TED talk, The Walk from “No” to “Yes” has been viewed more than 1.4 million times.

RUSA
Be Our Guest: Creating Immersive Guest Experiences in Libraries
Saturday, June 25 • 4:00 pm – 5:30 pm
OCCC-W110B
Transforming: Customer & User Expectations

Join us for RUSA’s President’s Program, a thoughtful discussion on how to create an effective “guest experience” in your library that teaches and inspires your users. Keynote speaker Dave Cobb, Vice President for Creative Development of Thinkwell Group, is an expert on designing immersive educational experiences for museums and theme parks. He’ll talk about how libraries can tell stories with space and create emotional resonance with their users—drawing on examples from the library world as well as theme parks. Responders are: John Blyberg, Assistant Director for Innovation and UX, Darien Library; and Stephen Bell, Associate University Librarian, Temple University.

UNITED
President’s Program with John Hart
Saturday, June 25 • 10:30 am – 11:30 am
OCCC-S330 E-F

Bestselling author John Hart will be featured during this program, hosted by United for Libraries President Ed McBride. Hart will be interviewed on stage by Barbara Hoffert, editor of Library Journal’s Prepub Alert. Hart is the author of four New York Times best-sellers, The King of Lies, Down River, The Last Child, and Iron House. The only author in history to win the best novel Edgar® Award for consecutive novels, John has also won the Barry Award and England’s Steel Dagger Award for best thriller of the year. His books have been translated into twenty-nine languages and can be found in over fifty countries. This program is sponsored by Macmillan. The author will sign books following the program (books subject to availability).

YALSA
President’s Program and Membership Meeting: 3-2-1 Impact! Cultural Competency in Action
Monday, June 27 • 10:30 am – 12:00 pm
OCCC-W203
Transforming: Career Development

YALSA President Candice Mack’s year-long initiative, “3-2-1 Impact!: Inclusive and Impactful Teen Services,” focuses on the need for libraries to evolve in order to effectively serve today’s teens. Outreach has become increasingly important as we strive to connect with teens who may not realize our inclusive programming can meet their needs. Attend this interactive session and learn about a range of innovative programs serving today’s teens and learn strategies you can take back to your own library.

Diversity is one of ALA’s Key Action Areas. In 2013, ALA President Barbara Stripling convened a Task Force on Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (TFEDI), charged with assessing and addressing how ALA can be more intentional about the ways it addresses issues surrounding equity, diversity, and inclusion within the Association and its events, and how to increase the impact. At this conference, the TFEDI will unveil its recommendations.

Other committees, divisions, affiliates, and individual members have also designed programs to continue dialogue around these complicated issues, provide best practices, and share stories from the field. These affect you, your colleagues, your patrons, and your communities, and we encourage all attendees to engage. These recommendations from the ALA Committee on Diversity will help you find many related programs, events, speakers, exhibitors, and meetings here at this conference. You can also find the full updated list at https://sites.google.com/site/diversityrelatedevents/home.

Program descriptions and other details about these events can be found in the Conference Scheduler, Mobile App, or the Daily Schedule beginning on page 148.

NETWORK AND CONNECT @ ALA

Opportunities for informal connection and peer-to-peer sharing are plentiful at the ALA Annual Conference. Here are some places and events where you can do that, as well as find ALA staff and other attendees to answer questions and connect.

ALA Lounge
OCCC- Lobby B

The place for information—brought to you by ALA Membership

• Relax and regroup at the ALA Lounge!
• Connect with colleagues and other ALA members, ALA staff, and the volunteer Ambassadors who are on hand to answer your questions about what’s going on at the conference and at ALA in general. Learn about ALA divisions, round tables, offices, and more.
• First-timers, this is a great spot to start at and get plugged in—your one-stop place to get connected and find colleagues from the New Members Round Table (NMRT).
• From conference events to ALA’s three strategic directions—advocacy, information policy, and professional and leadership development—you’ll be surrounded by information (and swag!).
• Avid ribbon collector? You’ll find special ribbons at the Lounge that you can’t get anywhere else!
• Curious about our new public awareness campaign Libraries Transform? The Lounge is the place to learn about the initiative and our goals—and to snap a #LibrariesTransform selfie at our photo booth.
• Find out how membership can help enhance your career, and get information that will help you improve library services to your community.
• Happy 140th birthday, ALA! Check out the timeline that presents a glimpse of past and present library transformations and impact, and add your own transformation landmarks.
• Next to the Lounge, you’ll find Networking Uncommons, another ideal spot for connecting and continuing the conversations and building on new ideas.

Unconference
Friday, June 24 • 9:00 am – 12:00 pm
OCCC-W109B

- Everyone has something to share and everyone has something to learn!
- Join us on Friday for a crowd-organized experience to share knowledge and discuss the profession.
- Participate with your peers and colleagues in unstructured conversations.
- Talk about what conference panels and sessions you’re excited to see, how you see the profession changing the world, and more.

ALAPlay
Friday, June 24 • 7:30 pm – 10:00 pm
HYATT-Regency Ballroom S

The popular annual evening gaming event, this year featuring open gaming, publisher demos from Paizo, Mayfair, HABA, Konami and more. This year also includes an unpub area where local game designers will showcase their games for attendees to play, and a digital petting zoo that explores gaming on devices which will feature an Oculus Rift. Look for the escape room experience too!

Library Games
Monday, June 27 • 4:30 pm – 6:00 pm
OCCC-W109B

Yes, we are doing it again! Four brave teams of librarians compete in several fast-paced, cut-throat events to take home the trophy and be crowned the champions of libraryland. Audience participation and voting will be crucial to the outcome, so make sure you are there to witness history in the making.
LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO HANG OUT, TAKE A BREAK, HAVE A CHAT, FOLLOW UP AFTER A PROGRAM, SET UP A SMALL GROUP DISCUSSION, PLAY, RECHARGE YOURSELF OR YOUR GADGETS? TRY ONE OF THESE.

Tor Books and the LITA Imagineering Interest Group present…

A Discussion by Critically Acclaimed Authors on Imagineering—Science Fiction/Fantasy and Information Technology:
WHERE WE ARE AND WHERE WE COULD HAVE BEEN

Science fiction and fantasy literature have a unique ability to speculate about things that have never been, but can also be predictive about things that never were. Join our panel of distinguished science fiction and fantasy writers as they discuss what the craft can tell us about not only who we are today, but who, given a small set of differences, we could have been.

Bridging the Gap

Friday, June 24 • 8:30 am – 10:00 am

ROS CENTRE - Salon 09/10

According to AAUW’s “The Simple Truth about the Gender Pay Gap” women working full time in the United States typically are paid just 79 percent of what white men are paid, a gap of 21 percent — and it’s even worse for women of color. The pay gap has barely budged in a decade. At the current rate, the gap won’t close for more than 100 years. More education helps increase women’s earnings, but it still doesn’t close the gender pay gap. Thanks to the pay gap, women struggle to pay off student loan debt even more than men do. Panelists will discuss how library professionals can confront and overcome the impact gender and race can have on compensation and leadership opportunities.

Leading for the Future

Friday, June 24 • 10:30 am – 12:00 pm

ROS CENTRE - Salon 09/10

Thinking about trends helps library professionals make sense of the changes that are happening in their environments, align their work to users’ current needs and expectations, and innovate services and programs so that libraries remain integral to the future of their communities. ALA’s Center for the Future of Libraries focuses its work on providing library professionals and community leaders with information resources and tools that will help them understand the trends reshaping their libraries and communities. The Center’s Miguel Figueroa will explore the many futures awaiting libraries and what we can do as individuals and as organizations to be drivers of change.

Diversity: What has it done for us lately?

Friday, June 24 • 1:30 pm – 3:00 pm

ROS CENTRE - Salon 09/10

The latest ALA Diversity Counts update (2012) shows that 88% of credentialed librarians are white, 5% African American, 3% Asian/Pacific Islander, 3% Latina/o, and less than 1% identify as either Native American or multi-racial. Despite numerous diversity initiatives there remains a stark racial/ethnic disparity between our profession and the communities we serve. Panelists will discuss strategies for disrupting structures and processes that perpetuate racial and ethnic disparities in librarianship; broaching microaggressions; working against implicit biases in hiring and performance evaluations; and formulating alternative actions we can use within the profession. Facilitated by Anthony Bishop.

Breaking the Mold: The Kee Malesky Story

10:30 am - 11:00 am
A funny, fast-paced “librarian as hero” tale, inspired by NPR’s longtime research librarian Kee Malesky and narrated by NPR’s Scott Simon. The short comedy quickly gained a cult following when it came out 15 years ago. Judd Apatow said of the film, “It made me laugh. It made me cry.” And NPR’s Susan Stamberg called it “a colorful delight.”

To Begin the World Over Again: The Life of Thomas Paine

11:00 am - 12:00 pm
Ian Ruskin, world renowned actor and playwright, has produced a film on the life of Thomas Paine, author of Common Sense, that will be aired on public TV this Presidential election year. Thomas Paine wrote about ideas that were so controversial he was often imprisoned and fined, and almost executed. His works were banned in Europe and anyone who distributed, read or discussed his books faced prosecution. Some were arrested for simply displaying a portrait of Thomas Paine. In the late 1700’s, he fled to the United States where he continued to write about slavery, religion, and independence from British government.

Kumu Hina: The True Meaning of Aloha

1:30 pm - 3:30 pm
Kumu Hina is a powerful feature documentary about the struggle to maintain Pacific Islander culture and values within the Westernized society of modern day Hawai‘i. It is told through the lens of an extraordinary Native Hawaiian who is both a proud and confident māhū, or transgender woman, and an honored and respected kumu, or teacher, cultural practitioner, and community leader.

Kumu Hina portrays a world where instead of transgender people being marginalized because of who they are, they are actually visible, included and honored.

Florence: Days of Destruction

4:00 pm - 5:30 pm
2016 is the 50th anniversary of the Florence Flood, an event that affected many cultural heritage institutions in the flooded area but also had a much wider impact on disaster preparedness and recovery in cultural heritage institutions. This film was instrumental in making the world aware of... the horrendous damage in Florence, and raised significant funds for recovery and restoration of damaged items.

Chinese Couplets

10:30 am – 11:00 am

Chinese Couplets reveals the impact of the Chinese Exclusion Acts on one family, over two centuries in three countries, on four generations of women. Told from the filmmaker’s point-of-view, the documentary explores the universal themes of inter-generational strife between immigrants and their American born children, the often painful price paid by immigrants who abandoned their personal identity and their homes, and the burden of silence passed on to their offspring. Through one family’s “micro” history, Chinese Couplets reveals the complex and contradictory nature of our national

3 1/2 Minutes, 10 Bullets

1:30 pm – 3:30 pm

In 2012, 17 year old Jordan Davis was murdered by 45 year old Michael Dunn in a Jacksonville Florida gas station over an argument about “loud music”. As conversations about Trayvon Martin, Michael Brown, Walter Scott, Freddy Gray, and other victims of senseless violence play out on the national stage, this film dives deep into the aftermath of Jordan Davis’ murder. The seamlessly constructed, riveting documentary film explores the danger and subjectivity of Florida’s Stand Your Ground self-defense laws by weaving Dunn’s trial with a chorus of citizen and pundit opinions, and with Jordan Davis’ parents’ wrenching experiences in and out of the courtroom.

About BluuBeam

BluuBeam is the largest iBeacon service provider for libraries. We offer a turnkey solution that will help you effectively market your products & events. Notify patrons about things they’re interested in, based on their physical location, right on their smart phone or tablet. Let us help bring the Internet of Things to your library. We’re also partnered with ALA Conference services so download the app today to see BluuBeam in action while at ALA2016. Look for BluuBeam in your phones app store. To learn more about BluuBeam, visit www.bluubeam.com or check out our beam in the Mobile App Pavilion.

BluuBeam is back to help provide the best conference experience. ALA Conference Services is pleased to be working with BluuBeam, the #1 iBeacon provider for libraries.

You will find BluuBeam throughout ALA Annual Conference, offering relevant information right on your smartphone. You’ll get links to content like slides and handouts (to use on-site or save for later) for programs and sessions such as Conversation Starters and Ignite Sessions, and information from places like the ALA Store, ALA Lounge, and the Networking Uncommons when you visit their space. You can also save the link to your favorite sessions.

How to get the BluuBeam app:

• Tap on the “What’s Beaming” icon in the ALA Annual Conference App (See page 49)
• Search for BluuBeam in the iTunes App Store or Google Play Store
• Text the word “link” to 38470 to download the BluuBeam app

Once you download the app, an alert on your phone shows you information relevant to your location when you come within range of a Beam (about 40’). The messages include links, pictures and text and are clearly organized in the BluuBeam app. You can access Beams that are around you now as well as Beams that you’ve visited previously, as well as saving your favorites—which makes it easy to review later.

During the Vietnam War, thousands of refugees fled the fighting and political violence in Southeast Asia and came to the United States. Some of these refugees settled in Orlando, establishing what today is the largest Asian population in the region. Vietnamese Americans will tell their stories about fleeing the violence for a new life, and librarians will share their programs and strategies for helping today’s refugees.

Borderless Libraries: Pushing Boundaries for Innovation and Leadership—IRRT International Paper Session & Projects

1:00 pm - 2:30 pm
OCCC-W103B

Learning and research today are increasingly global and interdisciplinary. To meet the challenges and needs of our interconnected world, libraries are reaching outside of their institutional and geographical borders to cooperate with institutions and agencies of all types. With increased awareness of shared missions and common challenges, libraries are forming learning networks to gain insights and achieve solutions to respond to community needs.

In 1973 Richard Nixon famously said he was “not a crook” while at Disney’s Contemporary Resort.

How Libraries and Librarians Can Act As Community Resources in Building Bridges Between Different Communities

10:30 am - 11:30 am
OCCC - W203

The IRC Near East and South Asia Committee invites you to a round table conversation about how librarians, as community resources, can help build bridges between different communities in time of crisis. We will have librarians who work with mix communities from different regions (e.g. South Asia, the Middle East). Questions for discussion: What activities outside the library can librarians engage in? Who should librarians contact in the community to start these activities? Should we create a social club to help our communities interact with each other and develop a better understanding of each other through cultural events?

Think Fit @ALA is our health and well-being initiative with a focus on both personal health and environmental awareness. Sustainability and ‘green’ efforts are increasing throughout the events and hospitality industry. ‘Thinking Fit’ by minimizing our negative impact on the environment, ALA encourages you to keep an eye out for our environmentally friendly activities as well as our vendors and other partners.

GREEN EFFORTS

ALA and our partners include important green initiatives in our conference.

- GES, a main conference partner, uses recyclable carpet and carpet padding made with 98% pre- and post-consumer content.

The OCCC is pleased that it has received the Gold certification for Leadership in Energy & Environmental Design (LEED) for its existing buildings.

Energy Saving Facility Upgrades:
- Solar PV System
- Compact Light Bulbs
- LED Lighting
- Xeriscaping
- Drip Irrigation
- Climate Change Education Center
- Green Sealed Certified for Cleaning Products
- 100% Recycled toiletry supplies
- 85% recycled trash bags
- Low-Flow Faucets

Sustainable Purchasing: We adhere to the LEED and APEX-ASTM E2774 - 11 Standard Specification for Evaluation & Selection of Venues for Environmentally Sustainable Meetings; Events, Trade Shows, and Conferences for all OCCC purchases.

Water Conservation Methods:
- 100% reclaimed water for irrigation
- Installation of drip irrigation system
- Utilizing Xeriscape™ planting principles
- Low-flow, metering water faucets in restrooms

The OCCC is the first convention center in the United States to receive ISO certification for the implementation of an Environmental Management System (EMS).

- Our Environment System paved way for the implementation of an Environmental Services’ Recycling Program. Prior to EMS, we recycled less than 1% percent of total waste stream.

Recent results include:
- 59% of all waste recycled/diverted
- 2,816.68 tons recycled in total
- 2503.09 tons Class 3/C&D
- 305.94 tons cardboard
- 7.65 tons office paper
- 42.06 tons of food scrap
- Diverted 12.07 tons of yard waste
- Total Class 3 and C&D recycled 72.41%
